

A message from Jim Dinkins

I am pleased to announce that Valerie Love will join The Coca-Cola Company as Senior Vice President, Human Resources, North America, effective Aug. 26. Valerie will report to me and will serve on both the CCNA and Global People Function leadership teams. Valerie succeeds Peter Green, who will fully transition to his new role of Senior Vice President, Human Resources, Europe, Middle East and Africa.

Valerie joins the company from Johnson & Johnson (J&J), where she served as Global Vice President, Human Resources, Consumer Supply Chain and Global Quality since 2016. Prior to this role she led Human Resources for Johnson & Johnson's Vision Care business (JJVC).

Previously, Valerie has held leadership roles of increasing responsibility in Human Resources, including serving as Vice President, Human Resources at Tyco International, and a 20-year tenure at General Motors leading HR across a number of businesses and plants, including international assignments in Argentina and Germany.

Passionate about giving back, Valerie is a current Board Member of the National Black MBA Association and a member of the Executive Leadership Council. She previously served as Executive Champion for the JJVC Diversity & Inclusion Council and as National Co-Chair of the J&J African Ancestry Leadership Council.

Valerie brings an impressive track record of building strong HR strategies and people development that drive business and culture forward. She will be an invaluable partner to all of us in CCNA's growth culture as we deliver on our +1 Aspiration.

Valerie holds a Bachelor of Arts from Tennessee State University and earned an MBA at Belmont University in Nashville, Tennessee. She is an active runner with three marathons under her belt and enjoys traveling and exploring different cultures. She will relocate to Atlanta in September.

Please join us in congratulating Valerie on her new role and welcoming her to the Coca-Cola family.
