

Cassandra F. Bozeman is a lifetime member from Columbus, Ohio and founding principle of ONE Enterprise Group, a quick service restaurant development company focusing on non-traditional locations and serving military members and their families throughout the country. Before founding ONE Enterprise Group, with over 25 years of commercial real estate site selection, deal negotiation and development experience, Cassandra was responsible for all non-traditional development for a national quick service restaurant brand. She introduced this brand and their franchisees to the partnership of serving military service members and their families.

Most recent corporate experience is VP of Global Business Development with OTG Management (New York, NY). Identity, Negotiate and Execute long-term development opportunities for food and beverage and retail concepts in airports throughout North America.

Previous Walmart site selection, deal negotiation, and development team leader.

Cassandra's extensive corporate finance and development career has included:

- BS Accounting
- MBA Finance
- Former Adjunct Professor Columbus State Community College
- Current president of the Columbus Tuskegee Alumni Club
- Current Board member for AMAC (Airport Minority Advisory Council) and Chair of the Corporate Development Committee

Married 30 years to retired Anthony Bozeman, three adult children, Travis, Trent, and Linder