

Amanda Schultze is a manager at management consulting firm KCIC and part time MBA student at Georgetown University McDonough School of Business. Amanda is a NBMBA Fellow and has been a member of the Washington, DC Chapter since 2020.

At KCIC, Amanda has partnered with her clients on various matters including litigation management, analysis of claims data, allocation of claims costs to insurance coverage, development of claims processing procedures and systems, and claims administration. Furthermore, Amanda has assisted in the research and analysis involved in assessing the credit risk of insurance companies which has provided the foundational support for expert testimony reports. Amanda uses her industry expertise to partner with her clients and their counsel on all aspects of complex, multi-party insurance-related disputes.

In addition to client work, Amanda manages KCIC's Diversity and Inclusion team. Through open dialogue and intentional inquiry, she facilitates KCIC employee growth in understanding and celebration of differences.
